

THE OFFENDER CAUSED ME DAMAGE. WHAT CAN I DO?

In criminal proceedings, the aggrieved party is entitled to claim compensation for damage to health, property and for non-material damage caused by a criminal offence. The court can oblige the accused to pay compensation.

Property damage: damage to property, reduced income, cost of treatment.

Damage to health: pain and suffering settlement calculated on the basis of severity of the injury or psychological harm.

Non-material damage: for example, harm to honour, dignity or respect.

Claims must be made no later than during the first court hearing. Claims can be made in writing or orally in a statement at the police station, or in court if applicable.

It is necessary to describe the connection between the damage and the crime, and to state the amount of damages. The amount of damages can be additionally specified during the procedure.

If you fail to claim compensation for damages in criminal proceedings, you can file a civil action in a civil law procedure.

WHAT IF THE OFFENDER DOES NOT COMPENSATE ME FOR DAMAGES?

You are entitled to ask for financial help to overcome a bad situation.

The state can provide financial assistance in the event of bodily harm, death of a relative as a result of a crime, or being a victim of a sex crime.

Financial assistance is provided if the offender cannot be punished by reason of insanity or minority.

The application for financial assistance is submitted to the Compensation Department of the Ministry of Justice. The application must be filed within 2 years of the day the victim learns about the consequences of the crime, and no later than within 5 years of the day the crime was committed.

The application has no prescribed form. However, we would recommend using a form available on the Ministry of Justice website.

I DO NOT AGREE WITH THE COURT'S RULING. WHAT CAN I DO?

The aggrieved party can only appeal against a ruling on compensation for damages. The aggrieved party cannot appeal against a ruling on guilt and punishment of the aggrieved party.

Police, the State Prosecutor and courts deal with criminal offences in criminal procedures. If you are a victim of crime, file a criminal complaint.

? HOW DO I FILE A CRIMINAL COMPLAINT?

A criminal complaint can be made in writing or orally at any police station. Identify the offenders, witnesses and provide evidence which can prove the incident.

Ask the police to inform you about the outcomes of the proceedings within 30 days of filing the complaint. Otherwise, you might not learn about the outcome.

? WHAT WILL HAPPEN?

The police start verifying the facts stated in the criminal complaint. If no crime has been committed, the matter is suspended or passed on for infringement procedures.

You might be asked by the police to come in for questioning in order to clarify the matter. You might also be asked to present documents and other evidence.

If a crime was committed, the police will start investigations. At the end of the investigations, the state prosecutor will bring criminal charges against the offender. The court decides on guilt and punishment in a trial.

? HOW WILL I FIND OUT WHAT IS HAPPENING IN THE TRIAL?

As the aggrieved party, you are entitled to view the file which the police and the court keep on the respective matter. The file must include all documents relevant for the case.

You can make copies, and you may use your own camera. It is necessary to arrange a viewing of the files in advance.

? I WOULD LIKE TO GET MORE INFORMATION

Law enforcement authorities must inform you about your rights and duties without being asked. You can always enquire and ask for information on your case.

? WHAT SHOULD I DO IF I HAVE EVIDENCE?

As the aggrieved party, you are entitled to give evidence during the criminal proceedings. You can present the evidence to the police, the state prosecutor or the trial.

? DO I HAVE TO GO TO COURT?

You must go to court if you are summoned for interrogations. Otherwise, the presence of the aggrieved party is not mandatory. The aggrieved party is entitled to ask the accused and witnesses questions in the trial and to comment on the case at the end.

? CAN I BE REPRESENTED IN THE PROCEEDINGS?

As the aggrieved party you can select your representative, who will exercise your rights. Anybody can be your representative. It does not have to be a lawyer.

If you confirm that you cannot afford a representative, the court can provide you with one free of charge.

Minors are always entitled to a representative free of charge.

? DO I HAVE TO MEET THE OFFENDER?

As a victim of crime you are entitled to ask not to meet the offender during the criminal proceedings.

You are also entitled to be informed if the offender is released from custody or prison.

The court can issue interim measures and forbid the offender to contact you.

Your personal data can be kept confidential in the file so that the offender cannot find you.

? I NEED PSYCHOLOGICAL OR LEGAL ASSISTANCE

As a victim of crime, you are entitled to social, psychological and legal assistance from registered providers.

? HOW DOES INTERROGATION WORK?

The aggrieved party is usually a witness in criminal proceedings.

It is your duty to attend the interrogation if you are served with a subpoena, to tell the truth and without concealment.

If you do not come and do not provide a good reason, you can be fined up to CZK 50,000 or you can be summoned by the police.

If you intentionally make a false statement, you can face criminal charges.

You are entitled to refuse to make a statement if this threatens you, or a close person, or you are bound by a duty of confidentiality imposed by law.

You are entitled to make a statement in your mother tongue, or another language that you are fluent in.

You are entitled to choose the gender of the person interrogating you.

Intimate questions can only be asked if necessary to clarify the matter.

You can be accompanied by your representative or confidant.
